Columns

We, the graduating class of 1963, with love, gratitude, and admiration, have chosen to honor, in a very special way, those devoted teachers upon whom we have depended so completely for guidance and understanding throughout our school days.

To the Faculty of King William, we proudly dedicate THE 1963 COLUMNS.

ACTIVITIES

Retrospect

We, the Seniors of '63, are nearing the completion of our high school days. To accomplish this, it has taken a great deal of hard work mixed with fun and frolic. And now that the day of graduation draws near our minds tend to reminisce.

Our first year, under the able guidance of Miss Brizendine, was one of adjustment. During this year we met and made friends with people who would be our classmates for twelve years. Miss Brizendine, who was patient and kind, helped us with our many difficulties. She not only added much to our young minds academically but also introduced us thoroughly to school life in general.

Progressing from the first to the second grade and having Miss Billups as our teacher was quite thrilling. Now that we had become familiar with a schedule, school life seemed easier and less complex.

Moving steadily through the next few grades we acquired those fundamental skills, knowledge and qualities which would provide us with the proper foundation for later life. Our teachers during these years were Miss Davis, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. Hargrove, Mrs. Littlepage and Mrs. Wendenburg. Their patience with us will never be forgotten.

Our eighth and ninth grade classes sponsored by Mrs. Stevens and Mr. Rackley respectively, were ones, more or less, of readjustment. Before that time we had been united as a class, having one teacher all day, but now we changed classes and teachers periodically during the day.

The next two years under Miss Keister's sponsorship were especially busy ones. Our out-of-school activities centered around money-making projects, our object being in our junior year to honor the seniors with a prom. When the night of the big event arrived our dreams were realized. Our theme, "Song In My Heart," we feel will long be remembered by all those who attended. We know that we shall never forget that night nor the many days and nights of preparation for it.

This year has been the busiest one yet. We have worked hard as a class to edit the '63 Columns and, also, under Mrs. White's leadership have been planning our graduation which will, of course, climax our entire high school career. This will be the point at which we shall come face to face with a world full of challenges. Though it will not be easy for us to emerge into a rather different environment from the one we have been accustomed to during our school days, nevertheless, we have been adequately prepared by our teachers and feel that we can face the future without fear.

We express our deep gratitude to our faculty for the inspiration which it has been to us, for the guidance which it has offered us and for the knowledge which its members have imparted to us.

Paper and Careers for the future

TODAY there are more than 100,000 different uses for paper . . . and the search for new uses never ends. That is why this fast-growing industry is now the fifth largest in the country . . . and why it needs trained researchers and technicians for future growth.

Our company, a pioneer kraft manufacturer, joins with other mills in sponsoring college scholarships in paper technology. It also offers scholarships for study in a subject of the student's choice. For information, write: Public Relations Department —
